We really have had lots of fun in the sun with our learning this week.

In Nursery, it has been all about our mums. Making special gifts, sharing things they like to do with their mums and discussing just exactly why they are so special. We have also been thinking about our friends and learning kind words that will show support and encouragement when our friends need our help.

Reception made the most of the sunshine exploring shadows. They learnt about transparent and opaque materials and had great fun making their very own dinosaur shadow puppet show. They counted how many of their footprints would fit inside a dinosaur footprint, made dinosaur skeleton pictures and even made an exploding volcano.

Year 1 have been learning about similes and have written their own dinosaur shape poems. They have measured and compared heights of dinosaurs with themselves. They too have been using their science skills by designing a fair test and experimenting which material will keep their baby dinosaur the warmest.

We have all been on secret missions this week..... preparing and creating our unique handcrafted gifts for our very special mums. We hope you have a wonderful weekend and enjoy all your special treats and surprises.
